

Call for Submissions

The Journal of Mason Graduate Research is offering all graduate and professional students the opportunity to publish their work in an interdisciplinary, peer-reviewed, open-access journal. Submissions are accepted on a rolling basis. However, to be considered in the Spring 2018 issue, we suggest submitting by January 31, 2018.

Why submit?

- Improve your writing through multiple peer reviews
- Learn how to publish through a supportive and developmental process
- Advance your career and add to your CV
- Contribute to the field and allow others to build on your ideas

What should I submit?

- A revised course paper
- Literature reviews
- Meta analyses
- Book reviews
- Art & photography
- Results from pilot studies
- Works from dissertations & theses

Find manuscript guidelines and other instructions to submit at journals.gmu.edu/jmgr

Questions? Contact: jmgr@gmu.edu

JMGR is a multidisciplinary, peer-reviewed academic journal for Mason Graduate and Professional students.